

GENTLEMAN YVES

I have been living outdoors 24-7 at the end of a 12 foot lead for the past two years, deep in the mountains of Virginia. Before that, I roamed the wooded ridge near the river, dragging a heavy chain attached to the collar that grew stuck in my neck. I would find my own food and sleep wherever I could find shelter. The lady who rescued me down there must have known I was tired of the roving bachelor life. She said it was time I found myself a real home.

I'm a Walker-Fox Hound mix with a live and let live attitude. Cats, kids, people, other dogs.... I consider them all my pals. Why, some of my best friends have been the feral cats who used to eat with me in my mountain home! I am neutered, crate trained, housebroken, microchipped and up to date on all my shots. My Foster Mom says I will make some family a wonderful pet because I'm such an easy going gentleman in and out of the house.

If you'd like a just plain great dog for a friend, let's get together and visit. Just call and ask for Yves. You'll know me by the "Y" on my forehead.
